ST. A. D. BALCOMBE, Chairman Board of Public Works, Omaha, March 8th, 1889.

march 10-11-24-27 The Local Review-The money market continues very easy, and the supply is if any thing in excess of the demand. Rates are therefore easier, and 8 per cent is the rule for prime mercantile paper. General trade has very materially improved the past week, and while the movement is not all it should be as yet, the indications are that the spring trade will be fully up to the average and probably show a fair increase. Collections are only so-so, and an improvement in this branch of business would not be wholly unacceptable. City trade has been good, and retailers are fairly content with the outlook. The produce market shows the advent of spring by its array of green pears, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, onions, etc. Eggs are again lower, and butter is somewhat off though choice, and butter is somewhat off though choice. and butter is somewhat off, though choice grades are steady. There is still a good deal of complaint from honest, reliable commission merchants in regard to the prac-ice of dishonestly quoting prices above the market by a few firms who cannot obtain trade legitimately and resort to this victorious practice. Ship-pers should investigate the character of the parties to whom they propose to consign goods and they may rest assured that the merchant who quotes above the market prices current does so with a view to swind ling the consignor, who has but little redress as the cost of presecuting petty scoundrels of this class is more than the results obtainable will warrant. The losses of the great foreign copper syn dicate or trust are said to amount to $35,000,000. It is reported that the capital represented in the sait trust is $25,000,000, all the pro-ducers in the country being in the combina-tion. In England and throughout continental Europe the salt trusts have provoked indignant protests and anti-trust agitation. An advance of a few cents a barrel does not impose a heavy burden on consumers, but people do not like to be at the mercy of a powerful syndicate.

The sugar trust is a fair buyer of raw sugar, but it has a good deal of difficulty in finding any lots at former prices, as most holders are demanding an advance. Supplies are everywhere greatly reduced, and the stocks at four ports of Great Britain are down to 152,000 tons, against $24,500 tons a year ago. Cuban advices are very bullist. and the amounts offered there are small. New York advices state that a cargo of box herrings is selling actively upon the basis of 20c for straight medium sealed. Farcy lines of New Orleans molasses are becoming scarce and prices are tending up-ward. The southern market is said to be almost bare of stock.

It is stated that the stocks of California unpeeled dried peaches are gradually disap pearing. Philadelphia is the chief buyer and the demand is mainly speculative.

The maple sugar season has commenced in the eastern townships of Quebec, and the trees are now generally on tap. "Warranted pure maple sugar" made from brown sugar with maple flavoring is for sale the year around, and it is remarkable how far a little sap will go.

The New York Commercial Bulletin states that merchants in that city do not entertain confidence in the reports that are being constantly sent over the wires and through the mails about the sales of salmon, the majority believing that the statement of 600,000 cases of all kinds of canned salmon sold for ship-ment to foreign countries is vastly over drawn. They cannot understand why it is that there should at this early season have been contracts made that are nearly 60 per cent in excess of the entire quantity shipped unusually for years past annually for years past.

Sugar sales have been very heavy of late, owing to the advance and strong prospects for a further sharp rise, and a good deal of speculative buying has been done. The bulls figure up a shortage of 50,000 tons in the world's supply, and the advices state that Licht has reduced his estimate of the best crop 25,000 tons. In view of the steady advancing market the prospect of importing refined sugars has been suggested, but parties who have carefully investigated assert that our prices are no way near high enough for such a move as yet. Coffee is being advanced by the speculaters on the strength of the expected short Rio crop. Present supplies are ample for all current requirements, and the supply at the American seaboard and affoat for the same amount to 441,500 bags, against 385,000 bags a year ago. There are 374,000 bags in Rio. and Havre reports 455,000 bags, 268,000 of which are Brazilian.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

Saturday, March 23, 1889.

The buyers wanted some cattle to-day and they got out and bought them, which was about the only difference between the market to-day and that of yesterday. The prices paid were about steady on all grades, but there was a better feeling prevailing on the market, and some for that reason were calling the trade stronger. The revents were market, and some for that reason were calling the trade stronger. The receipts were light and the yards were about cleared by midday. The prices paid for beef cattle ranged all the way from $3.00 to $3.90, with the bulk at $3.20@3.50. Butchers' stock was in light supply and brought good prices in comparison with the way steers sold. The bulk of the cows went at $2.25@2.50, with bulk of the cows went at $2.25@2.50, with something very choice as high as $2.75 or even $3.00. There is one thing which shippers must bear in mind, and that is the light demand for canners. Old, thin cows are not selling as readily as they were a month ago; in fact, it is hard work to dispose of them at any price. The demand for bulls have been sent to the any price. The demand for bulls has also fallen off largely, as is usual at this season The demand for bulls has als of the year. There was virtually no trading in feeders, there being no cattle of that de-scription in the market to speak of.

Hogs. The market was active, at prices strong to 5c higher and an early clearance was made. The bulk of the hogs sold at $4.60, with one load at $4.65. There was no sorting, so that, although the market was higher, the top was not so high as vesterday.

There were six loads of Colorado lambs on the market, part of which were sold. The market continues firm at former quotations.

Not feeders enough here to make a market. Bulls not in as good demand as ten days ago.

There has been quite a change in the hog market during the past week. The bulk of the hogs sold on Saturday of last week at $4.45, with $4.50 the top. The market was a little stronger on Monday, the range of prices being $4.45@4.50, with half of the sales at the latter price. The market on Tuesday and Wednesday did not show much change in prices, but was very slow and un-satisfactory. The trade looked up a little on Thursday and was still higher on Friday.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

Cuicago, March 23 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- The wheat marked opened rather quietly, but the initial range was omewhat ragged on account of the nervousness of the trades. May started in at $1.04% @1.05, with clamer to buy at the outside The price went to $1.0414, however, with a good many trades at $1.04%. The market then shot up to $1.05%, and after a reaction of 1/2c broke and boomed to $1.073/2. At the top a big lot of long wheat came out and a precipitous decline to $1.061/4 resulted. This was all accomplished within the space of half an hour or so. The market then steadled and for quite a time there was a large trade within a range of $1.06%@1.07%. A decline to $1.04% was the next movement, and this was succeeded by a rally to $1.06. Then until nearly the close the market was steady at $1.05 and fractionally above, fluries some times carrying the price above $1.05%. Trade got very light and the filling of small orders was sufficient to move the price, often-times, 3/c. This was one of the character-istics of the trade of the whole session. As was the case vesterday, some of the sharest bulges and rallies were accompanied by light business, bidding for single lots of 5,000 bushels causing a 3/@lc fluctuation. It was a singularly nervous and overwrought market. The closing twenty minutes was marked by a slumpy break to nearly $1.04. On the hard spots there was considerable wheat for sale, and the impression prevailed that the Fairbank-Hutchinson party was feeling the crowd. Hutchinson was an open and active bidder through brokers for little lots and and shorts were coming in all day with offers to buy, their wants, being accommodated if patience was displayed. Bloom was a large seller around the top, and the gossip credits him with making a turn of $60,000. The bear houses absorbed a good deal of wheat during the day. The "know alls" in the pit had it that the "clique' was gunning for Linn and the Schwarts Dupee following, without however, bringing down that game, though Captain Phillip was credited with covering a big line on the bulge. July wheat led in activity at first today. A "tip" was in circulation that there was to be a whirl in this future, and everybody wanted a little at the beginning. The price went from 89c to 90c, breaking back to 88%c, however, only to rally again to 89%c. From this point there was another decline, the crowd being encouraged to free selling by reports of rain in Kansas and Missouri. The lowest price of the day up to 1 o'clock, was 88½c. The break just before the close carried July to 884c, closing at 88c, May $1.04%c. Thus while the day was decidedly bullish the closings indicate very little change as compared with yesterday, May showing a gain of only

%c and July Mc.
The excitement and strength in the wheat The excitement and strength in the wheat market was again communicated to corn. The shorts were buying freely and their demands were readily supplied after an advance of about 1/2c in May above the opening quotation. The St. Louis market showed a very light degree of sympathy with the advance here, and New York none at all. The Liverpool market was firmer and higher and the export buying was reported from New York and Baltimore to be good and governed as to its extent mainly by considerations of vessel room and the rate of freight. The trading was not active and was chiefly local and scalping in its character. There was more than the usual amount of trading in June and July futures. May future in corn started in strong at 35 kc, out after the advance of 8½c the closing price was the same as it rested at yesterday. The other futures went over a parallel course, but there were sellers of all the futures. trading was not active and was chiefly local tures at the closing quotations at the time of Oats were quiet. The opening was weak Oats were quiet. The opening was weak to 14c lower on the regular market, firming up later along with wheat, with May advancing 14c, to 26c. This figure called out a number of selling orders, and prices settled back a point or two, with later dullness the rule. A few outside orders were received and the room traders did most of the business, which was not large, with June and July rather dull. Regular oats to go to store were steady at 24%c.

were steady at 24%c. The provision trade was again bullish in its tendency. The fluctuations were quite narrow, being limited to 20c in pork, 10c in lard and 714c in short ribs, but the higher prices had the call and the day closed with a general improvement. In pork the advance established amounted to 734@1234c, in lard to 734@10c and in short ribs to 734c.

The principal packers are, or seem to be, the bears on the market, and when shipping orders are scarce they have every-thing their own way, as the market shows thing their own way, as the market shows this week that the days when the shippers had plenty of orders there were good markets. From the present indications the only thing that will hold the market up is plenty of shipping orders from the east and light receipts of hogs.

FINANCIAL.

week finds the conditions and sentiment, both unchanged in the stock market. The fairly good rallies noticed early in the week had no general movement under them, and as soon as part of the short interest was satisfied, the dullness, if not heaviness, returned. The action in Chicago Gas while somewhat remarkable, is not significant when the slump of Friday is remembered. During no day of the week has real activity spread through more than a dozen stocks, and frequently half a dozen securities took most of the interest. The current talk that some longs have been quietly taking stocks and that a grand raily is to be started all along the list, is not sincerely accepted by those who know most about the adverse workings of the roads. The transactions to-day were small and shed no light on the probable course of the market. The opening was marked by duliness, and a few shares, such as Chicago Gas, Burlington and Northwestern enjoyed all the activity. The first prices were about steady, but Oregon Improvement, Chicaro Gas and Burtington showed special weak ness, declining 1/4 to 1 per cent each. Hope revived when a rally carried Gas certificates up to the early price and Burlington nearly so. A second decline soon followed, and at 11 a. m. prices were below the opening. with the market dull. What activity there was toward noon was in Union Pacific, Burlington and Chicago Gas, and prices again tended downward. Puliman went against the current and advanced 116 per cent. At the close the market was heavy, with prices a shade lower than at the opening. The total sales were $7,212 shares. The following were the closing quotations: The following were the closing quotations:

The flurry in Paris has not disturbed the even tenor of financial circles on this side of the Atlantic, and from present indications is not likely to, as the American copper companies, who had transactions with the syndicate, hold letters of credit on banking houses in London as a guaranty of their contracts. There is not the usual call for favors to meet the regular monthly settlements. Merchants are taking moderate amounts to pay for bills falling due; also to extend their purchases in some instances where they see chances of making quick returns. Lumbermen are borrowing quite freely and the banks in the lumber districts are ordering considerable currency to enable customers to meet their obligations to their hands and to pay other incidentals necessary before commencing on this season's work. The leading in the New York stock market the past week ran more to specialties than for some time past, grangers and Chicago Gas Trusts being the leaders. The feeling during the greater part of the week was uneasy, particularly on grangers and Southwestern stocks. Long deferred liquidation in Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Rock Island and Atchison by Boston parties came at last, being in a measure hastened by the fears of a total collapse in the copper securities, which have been the main stay of the ties, which have been the main stay of the ties, which have been the main stay of the Bostonians for over a year. Had it not been for the large dividends earned by the copper mines they own their railroad stocks would have been thrown overboard mouths ago. The news from London and Paris was of a depressing character and the foreign operators sent liberal selling orders. Their course, coupled with that of the Boston and Chicago operators, caused a deventor and Chicago operators. ton and Chicago operators, caused a down-ward movement, the like of which has not been seen in months. The depression in Burlington was increased by the report for 1888, making a poorer showing than gener-ally expected, the deficit in the year's busi-ness being $1.740.000, and prices declined 44/ ness being $1,740,000, and prices declined points, Atchison 5, Rock Island 3. snort interest was materially increased by the decline, and the operators rendered more nervous than ever. The desire to cover caused a natural reaction, and the shrinkage on some of the stocks that were sold down in sympathy was regained. The loss on the leading stocks was only partly of grangers was Chicago Gas Trust. Early a decline of 1 point occurred, but good steady buying reversed the current, and an advance buying reversed the current, and an advance of 6% points followed. The purchases were based on reports that trusts earnings were steadily increasing and a 3 per cent dividend is expected to be declared at the next meeting. colder during the past week, the change was not sufficiently marked to retard spring work among the farmers. Seeding is pro-gressing favorably and considerable wheat and oats have been sown, and the ground is being prepared for corn in some sections. The crop outlook is generally regarded as favorable, and the fall sown grain comes out of the winter season looking remarkably well. What is true of this country applies equally as well to Europe, the reports from that quarter being favorable. The leading produce markets attracted considerable atproduce markets attracted considerable attention during the past week, especially in a speculative way, and the business transacted was quite large. The contest between the longs and shorts was waged with considerable vigor on both sides, and fluctuations in prices were quite frequent, with the result not very satisfactory to either side of the market. In some instances the former were successful in gaining slight advances, while in cessful in gaining slight advances, while in others the latter were equally as fortunate, the closing figures, excepting for wheat, showing only slight changes from those of last week. Operators are still transferring their trades ahead as much as possible, May and July being the principal deliveries in the snipping branch of the trade. There has the shipping branch of the traie. There has been some interest manifested, especially in the way of filling orders for moderate quantities, and mainly from eastern interior points. The supplies of grain in the leading markets are gradually decreasing, and the arrivals at the interior stations are comparatively light, partially due to the fact that farmers are now giving other and more important matters their attention. The advices from the European markets have not portant matters their attention. The advices from the European markets have not been very favorable to holders, and orders from abroad have been small. The unsettled feeling in financial circles has led to more conservatism in that quarter. The moveconservatism in that quarter. The move-ments of live stock have not been quite so free, as the prices were unsatisfactory to shippers. The packing of the west for the week shows a further material enlargement, and the returns since March 1, compared with those of the corresponding time in 1888, show an increase of nearly 50 per cent.
